*"This book is like a thought tree
Sit under it with a pen and one 'YOU'
Self-reflect and discover the infinite 'YOU'
And be 'YOU' "*

Note: Keep your workbook organized, regularly update it, and use it as a living document throughout your interview preparation. This will help you to customize your preparation as per your specific needs and preferences, ensuring it remains a valuable tool in your journey towards success in the UPSC CSE interview.

Founder's Note

ANKUR NAIN
MD & CEO - Vimarshe IAS

At Vimarshe Institute, we know how important the UPSC interview is in your journey to become an IAS officer. This workbook shows our commitment to your success, following the fair rules of the UPSC board.

The Interview goes beyond just theory. It checks how well you can use your knowledge, handle administrative tasks, and understand emotions. It tests your ability to adapt, think quickly, and make decisions when things get tough. Being consistent in your values, ethics, and vision is very important, showing you have the lasting qualities of an IAS officer.

Communication skills matter a lot. Our workbook, your helpful guide, goes deep into the interview process while putting the spotlight where it matters the most, and help you carve the best of you.

Remember, the UPSC interview is a journey where you reveal who you've become, not just what you've learned. Embrace this experience, stay strong and confident, and believe in your abilities. With hard work and good guidance, you can overcome this challenge.

Best of luck with your preparations; we're excited to celebrate your success with you. And in case, you require anything in person, feel free to reach out to us, no matter how big or small the issue is, don't keep it to yourself.

One-to-One Interview Mentorship

How to Use this Workbook to Maximize Your Potential?

This workbook has been meticulously designed to polish your personality in ways and means that is inherently synch with you. First and foremost, you are required to run through the entire workbook completely on your own with a pencil and language of only you.

Having done so, now it's time to approach those specific things that you consider as potential gaps in the chain of thought process to be researched and consulted with your advisory network which you consider can provide a worthwhile assistance. This process is again to be repeated with a pencil and your language only, even if it means spelling mistakes.

From here on many of you might also start attending mock interviews or various DAF sessions whereby getting influenced in your overall psychological construct. There is no one right or one wrong. The only thing that matters is that it should be in the flow of you i.e. your thought process, should synch with your communication, and most importantly should lead you to higher imagination in a manner that every time you go over it something more creative, more knowledgeable, and more simplified comes out of it.

Now just as thumb can't scratch itself or a mind can't think of itself, the depth of you is best reflected in front of a soundboard. It is here that Vimarshe IAS intends to help you through its one-to-one interview mentorship program.

Students can fill the Google form provided on vimarsheias.com, and the date and time will be provided on your WhatsApp number. All you have to do is come to the institute with this workbook and a few blank papers. Whatever your doubts be, write them clearly and be transparent and specific in the minimal words. Each and every query of you will be addressed and resolved in a manner that you will be able to put a period to it with confidence.

Please make sure that you do it in time so that you get an earliest appointment.

With best wishes from Ankur Nain.
